Camelon Iron Co

Founded in 1845 as Crosswaite, Miller and Co at Lock 16. In 1854 the first partnership was dissolved and the works sold to Mr Smith. In 1870 Mr Smith opened a new foundry called Kilns Iron works on the south side of the Forth & Clyde Canal at Kilns Place near Lock 9 in Falkirk. This new foundry started off producing pipes but in 1873 the entire plant from the Lock 16 foundry was transferred there too. The company then became known as Camelon Iron Co. The foundry at Lock 16 was sold to Walker, Turnbull & Co and became Portdownie Ironworks. In 1935 the company became part of Federated Foundries Ltd along with Grangemouth Iron Company (Grange Iron Works, Camelon), Watson, Gow Co (Etna Iron Works) and Burnbank Foundry Co. The premises at Kilns Place were closed in or before 1954 and Camelon Iron Works was transferred to the Grange Foundry, Stirling Rd, Camelon. The company was then known as Grange-Camelon Iron Co. Grange-Camelon Iron Works closed in 1967.

Camelon Iron Co was incorporated in 1890 with the registration number SC002035, and was dissolved in 1954.

Cockburn, M & Co Ltd

Founded in 1864 by Malcolm Cockburn (former employee of Falkirk Iron Co and Union Foundry, Camelon and former partner in Burnbank Foundry). The founding partners were Malcolm and Andrew Cockburn and Andrew Maclaren of London. Originally known as Gowanbank Iron Works, the company became M Cockburn & Co Ltd in 1905. In 1922 Cockburn linked up with McDowall Steven & Co, Planet and Coalbrookdale to form the Light Castings Group. In 1929 they became part of Allied Ironfounders. In 1961 all the companies in Allied Ironfounders were dissolved and became subsidiaries of Allied Ironfounders. Allied Ironfounders was taken over by Glynwed in 1969 and Cockburns was closed in 1977. Glynwed Foundries was incorporated in 1961 with the registration number 00687512.

Durban Falkirk Iron Company Ltd

In 1905 a company called The Hollow Block Syndicate was founded at Wentworth, near Durban, South Africa, by Sir Benjamin Greenacre. Originally it manufactured hollow concrete building blocks. As business expanded and diversified into the production of iron cooking pots and stoves, the company name became the Iron, Cement and Engineering Company Ltd. Later the company forged links with the Falkirk Iron Company and in 1923 a new joint enterprise, the Durban Falkirk Iron Company Ltd, came into being. The company made products such as coal stoves, pots, manhole covers and drain grates in conjunction with Falkirk Iron Company. Later it also made electric stoves and gas stoves.

Falcon Foodservice Equipment

Falcon Foodservice Equipment has its origins in the Falkirk Iron Co Ltd, which was founded in 1819. In 1929, Falkirk Iron Co joined with other UK foundries to become Allied Ironfounders Ltd. In 1969, Allied Ironfounders was taken over by Glynwed Foundries, and the ironfounding businesses became part of Glynwed Foundries Ltd. At that time Falkirk Iron Co became an independent manufacturing unit (under Glynwed ownership), renaming itself as Falcon. In 1979 Falcon relocated from Falkirk to Foundry Loan, Larbert. In 2001 Glynwed changed its name to the Aga Foodservice Group. In 2004 Falcon moved to Hillfoots Rd, Stirling. In 2007 the Ali Group SpA purchased Aga's foodservice business, of which Falcon was an integral part.

Falkirk Iron Co

Falkirk Iron Co was established in 1819 as a Joint Stock Company. The company had its origins in the Falkirk Foundry Co which was set up in 1810 by men from the Carron Co. In 1830, R W Kennard became a co-partner and the company was re-named Ashwell & Kennard until 1849. In 1929 the company became part of Allied Ironfounders, in 1961 the company was dissolved and the foundry became a department of Allied Ironfounders Ltd. Allied Ironfounders was taken over by Glynwed in 1969 and the foundry, Falkirk Iron Works, closed in 1981.

H E Hoole & Co became a department of Falkirk Iron Co. Castlelaurie Iron Works was owned by Falkirk Iron Co.

Falkirk Iron Company was incorporated in 1912 with the registration number SC008197, and went into liquidation in 1920. It was re-incorporated in 1920 with the registration number SC011294, and was dissolved in 1963.

Glynwed Ltd

Glynwed Holdings was formed in 1939 as a private company, and began trading as a public company in 1941. It acquired various metal working companies, initially mainly in the West Midlands. In 1966 it changed its name to Glynwed. In 1969 it acquired Allied Ironfounders Ltd. The subsequent reorganisation resulted in the formation of several divisions within the company including Glynwed Foundries Ltd, Glynwed Baths Ltd, Glynwed Steels Ltd and Glynwed Tubes and Structures Ltd. By 1999 the company had sold all its UK "metal bashing" businesses to concentrate on pipe systems and consumer and food service products. In 2001 it sold off its pipes division to Extec and rebranded as the Aga Foodservice Group. In 2008 the company renamed itself Aga Rangemaster Group.

Smith & Wellstood Ltd

Smith & Wellstood had its origins in a retail hardware business in Glasgow in 1854. James Smith and Stephen Wellstood became partners in 1858. In 1855 James Smith contracted George Ure, managing partner of Crosthwaite, Ure & Co of Camelon, to produce stoves. George Ure opened his own foundry, the Columbian Stove Works, at Bonnybridge in 1860, and went on to open the Bonnybridge Foundry in 1869. Smith and Wellstood took over the Columbian Stove Works in 1873, and became Smith & Wellstood Ltd in 1888. The company amalgamated with George Ure & Co Ltd under the name Smith & Wellstood Ltd in 1890. In 1947 after the death of the managing director, George Ure, the business changed hands. In 1949 Smith & Wellstood was registered as a public limited company. In 1950 a new foundry was established in Johannesburg, which was sold in 1971 to a South African company. In 1973 Smith & Wellstood Ltd were taken over by the Kent based Dint Engineering Group and in 1978 this became part of the Newman Industries Ltd Group. The company went into receivership in 1984. The Ouzledale Foundry Co Ltd bought out the foundry and established the new company of Smith & Wellstood (1984) Ltd.

Ure, George, Ltd

George Ure was managing partner of Crosthwaite, Ure & Co of Camelon during the 1850s. In 1855 he was contracted to produce stoves for Smith & Wellstood. In 1860 George Ure opened the Columbian Stove Works foundry at Bonnybridge, and Ure & Co was formed with original partners George Ure, James Smith and Stephen Wellstood. In 1869 Ure & Co built a second foundry, called the Bonnybridge Foundry. In 1873 Ure & Co became George Ure & Co and operated from the Bonnybridge Foundry, while the Columbian Stove Works was transferred to Smith & Wellstood. In 1885 George Ure & Co Ltd was formed, continuing the business of George Ure & Co. In 1890 George Ure & Co Ltd amalgamated with Smith and Wellstood Ltd, but the company name was still used until at least the 1930s.
