Falkirk Dean of Guild Court

The origins of the Dean of Guild Court were in the medieval Royal Burghs. Their powers to hear offences against neighbourliness gradually evolved into modern planning and building control regulations.

From 1862 Town Councils were permitted to set up Dean of Guild Courts and from 1892 all town councils were required to set up Dean of Guild Courts. The Dean of Guild Courts had powers to impose conditions relating to public health under the 1862 Police Act.

Access arrangements.

These records are held in an off-site store and three days advance notice is required for access. Under The Building (Procedure) (Scotland) Amendment Regulations 2009, access to plans of buildings where there are security issues is limited to owners, tenants, occupiers or prospective tenants. Copying of plans normally requires the permission of the owner. The Registers are held in Callendar House and are accessible to researchers on request.

The plans for minor and major warrants are currently only partly catalogued but are available for research. If a plan is not listed here then researchers can search of the Registers to find the original building warrant number which can then be used to search the uncatalogued plans. However, there is no guarantee that a plan listed in the Registers will still exist.

Most of the plans are held in Accession No A997 which was transferred from Falkirk District Council Building Control in 1998. The reference number for each plan in this accession is based on the original building warrant number with the prefix A997. The earliest plans were not numbered and a number has therefore been allocated.
